COMMUNITY PRESERVATION COMMITTEE

Church seeks funds for tower work

Issue to be discussed again Monday

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

The separation of church and state debate — when it comes to how the town should allocate money from the Community Preservation Fund — could open up again this year.

First Parish Church was back before the Community Preservation Committee this week asking for $26,250 in CPC funds to share the cost of repairing the clock tower, work that has already been completed.

CPC members were largely supportive of the request recognizing that the church is the most iconic building in town. However, they tabled their vote recommending the expenditure of funds to allow time for anyone who wants to weigh in on the proposal to come to their next meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday (March 24).

A familiar voice who was an outspoken critic of CPC funds being used to help pay for restoration of the church windows last year, plans to be there.

"Churches with a hand in taxpayers' pockets is wrong," said Howie Altholtz in an email. "Coming in after the fact (with the project done) just makes it really outrageous. Besides being illegal it makes no fiscal sense to fund private churches with so many critical town needs."

The total cost of restoring the clock tower was $67,500, church officials said. The church raised $15,000 through a town-wide appeal in which more than 100 businesses and individuals responded. The church hopes the balance could be split between the town (through expenditure of CPC funds) and the church.

CPC makes recommendations to Town Meeting, which has the final say. Last year, despite debate over the church-and-state issue, using preservation funds to restore the church windows won the approval of voters at Town Meeting.

Ronnie McMorris, who is chair of the parish committee, explained at this week's CPC meeting that during the painting of the meeting-house, contractors discovered serious rot in the structural posts that hold up the clock tower. She pointed out that the church and town

ANTIQUE STORE FIRE

Demolition day looming

Owner struggles to save building

By Erin Dale

Over the charred remains of a 100-year-old Victorian building, a phoenix rises from the ashes.

The painted bird looks out of the second-floor window of the decimated building, serving as a symbol of hope and renewal following the fire that sealed its fate.

Despite the owner's efforts to save the damaged Reflections Antique Emporium (808 Jerusalem Road), the town issued a demolition order last week and is currently taking contractor bids.

Dog do trouble

Droppings issue needs addressing

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

The dog days of summer may be far off, but it seems the Board of Selectmen have dogs on the mind.

Both selectmen Steve Gaumer and Karen Quigley brought up "dogged" issues during the selectmen comment portion of the Tuesday, March 18 meeting.

Quigley asked that with spring approaching, dog owners be more cautious and courteous when it comes to cleaning up after their pets.

Acknowledging that her comment was "rather inelegant," Quigley proceeded to ask dog owners to take care when walking their pets.

"With the snow and ice disappearing, I've had a number of conversations with fellow dog walkers," said Quigley, adding that while "most dog owners are responsible" and do pick up after their pets, "we have little bundles of dog poop all over the place," including on some town-owned property such as Government Island.

Quigley said that she was asked by her constituents "to remind those of us who walk our dogs to be responsible."

Selectmen chair Fred Koed noted that at one point, the town provided bags for pet cleanup. Quigley added that the dog poop is "really not pleasant for the DPW guys to deal with, either."

Board of Health Agent and Administrator Felix Zemel said in an email that the health board is not currently providing bags, however.

Some have suggested having signs on town-owned property asking for

Police: Coughing fit cause of serious crash

At about 1:45 p.m. (Tuesday, March 18), Cohasset police and fire were dispatched a car crash on Ledgewood Drive in Cohasset. Ledgewood Drive is located in a neighborhood behind Tedeschi Plaza off of Route 3A.

On arrival officers found a 60-year-old male from Nashua, New Hampshire, behind the wheel of a 2014 Ford Explorer. The Explorer was totaled. The driver stated that he was operating his vehicle on Ledgewood Drive and had a "coughing fit," which caused him to ram into a tree. There were no other vehicles involved. The driver was transported to South Shore Hospital by ambulance with non-life threatening injuries. He was cited for speeding. He was in the neighborhood to meet a business client, police said.

POLICE BEAT

Two heroin-related incidents

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

Suspended license

A 29-year-old Hanover man is being summonsed to Quincy District Court to face several charges after an officer did an investigation at Cohasset Plaza on Monday afternoon (March 10) because the green Pontiac Grand-Am the man was driving had a loud muffler and Vermont plates.

When the vehicle stopped in the plaza parking lot, the officer approached and identified the operator. A check through the Registry of Motor Vehicles revealed his license had been suspended. Police said the man claimed to have a Vermont license but investigation showed that license had expired. The plates on the Grand-Am belonged on a 1999 Dodge Caravan, police said.

In conducting an inventory of the car before it was towed, police located several capped syringes. The police Cohasset K-9 unit was called and during a drug sweep found several more needles in the trunk along with Suboxone strips and a spoon with heroin residue, police said. As it turned out, the young man had a prescription for the Suboxone, which he was using to treat his heroin addiction. The drug and drug paraphernalia were seized and the driver is being summonsed to court for operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license (subsequent offense), operating an uninsured motor vehicle, attaching plates and operating with a loud muffler.

Heroin charge

A 35-year-old Brockton man is being summonsed to Quincy District Court for possession of heroin and failure to stay in marked lanes following an investigation in the parking lot where the man had driven into after being seen operating erratically on Chief Justice Cushing Highway out of Hingham into Cohasset on Wednesday afternoon (March 12).

The caller reported the 2012 Honda Accord was all over the road, police said.

The officer located the vehicle in the parking lot of a business off Route 3A and identified the driver who is employed there. The officer observed the man's pupils were slow to react to light and his speech was slurred. When asked if he had taken any drugs, he told police the may have shot up heroin earlier that day. The Cohasset K-9 unit was called to the scene and located a bag of heroin in the car.

Due to underlying health issues, it was recommended the man be taken to a medical facility after being evaluated by paramedics, police said. The man's mother was called to take custody of him and his car was towed.

Dumpster

The manager of a shop in Shaw's plaza notified police on Monday (March 10) that someone had put five bags of household trash in the shop's recycling Dumpster. Police said the manager went through the trash and located receipts with the name of a 50-year-old Cohasset woman on them and wanted police to contact her. An officer made contact but the woman, who was out of the country when called and did not believe the trash was hers, police said. Who actually deposited the trash illegally in the shop's recycling bin remains a mystery.

Citation

A 36-year-old Scituate woman was cited for failure to stay in marked lanes following a traffic stop on Chief Justice Cushing Highway (Route 3A) near Pond Street. An off-duty Cohasset police officer called in the erratic operation of a 1991 Toyota Corolla on 3A near the Golden Living Center. An on-duty officer made the traffic stop.

Welfare check

A concerned caller notified police on Tuesday (March 11) just after 3 p.m. about a woman who appeared to be either sick or sleeping behind the wheel of a 2006 Volvo station wagon parked at the Post Office. The caller provided the plate number and an officer went to the home of an 85-year-old Cohasset woman, who is the registered owner of the vehicle. As it turned out, the woman's caretaker had driven the elderly woman to the Post Office and had nodded off while she was inside.

Expired license

An officer on traffic patrol on Forest Avenue stopped a 2005 Subaru Outback that was traveling 44 mph in a 30 mph zone on Wednesday (March 12) around 6:18 p.m. A check on the driver, who is a 37-year-old Hull man, revealed his license had expired. He is being summonsed to Quincy District Court for unlicensed operation and speeding. His car was towed. Police said his license expired last month.

Tax fraud

A 59-year-old Cohasset man reported to police on Thursday (March 13) that someone had compromised his Social Security number and filed a false tax return in his name, collecting more than $9,000, police said. The matter was referred to the IRS criminal investigation division and he was advised to notify credit card reporting agencies.

Erratic operation

Police said after she was dropped off, the passenger in a livery vehicle notified police on Thursday afternoon (March 13) that the driver was driving erratically and speeding through town. Police intercepted the 2002 Chevrolet van, operated by a 56-year-old Roslindale man, on North Main Street by Forest Avenue and followed it on North Main Street, observing its operation. The officer pulled the van over by the back entrance to the Greenbush station.

A check through the Registry of Motor Vehicles showed that the operator's license had expired. Although he was able to renew his license online at the scene, he is being summonsed to court for unlicensed operation. He is also being charged with speeding and failure to stay in marked lanes.

Dryer fire contained to unit

A 9-1-1 call came in at 10:43 a.m. on Wednesday (March 19) about a fire in the laundry room at the Golden Living Center off Chief Justice Cushing Highway (Route 3A).

Fire Chief Robert Sylvia said the fire was contained to the dryer unit on the lower level and had been extinguished prior to arrival of the fire department. There smoke on the first floor but not on the upper level. No residents' rooms had to be evacuated, he said. One employee, who had worked to put out the fire with a fire extinguisher, was evaluated at the scene for smoke inhalation.

A resident was transported to the hospital due to an unrelated medical call that occurred at the same time, Sylvia said.

He said mutual aid, which is standard procedure, was provided by the Hingham Fire Department; Hull re-

Sylvia said it is unclear what caused the fire in the industrial-size dryer. It could have been a malfunction, he said.

Keeping the peace

Police were called to mediate a dispute between a home-based employer and former employee on Thursday afternoon (March 13). The employer reported the former employee had taken a company laptop. Police said the laptop was returned to the business owner.

ID theft

A 74-year-old Cohasset man went to the police station on Thursday afternoon (March 13) to report unauthorized transactions on his debit card while he was traveling in South America and Mexico. The unauthorized withdrawals totaled $1845, police said.

Domestic

A 44-year-old Cohasset woman who lives in a neighborhood off Chief Justice Cushing Highway (Route 3A) notified police that after she ended her relationship with her live-in boyfriend, he came back and drove over her lawn and neighbors' lawns causing $4,000 in damage. He also crashed into a small tree in her yard, police said. The boyfriend is being summonsed to Quincy District Court on the charges of felony vandalism, reckless operation of a motor vehicle, and leaving the scene after causing property damage.

2-car MVA

Police responded to a two-car accident on Friday (March 14) around 5:08 p.m. involving a 2004 Toyota 4Runner, operated by a 26-year-old Marshfield man, and a 2008 Toyota Camry, operated by a 27-year-old Cohasset woman. Police said the 4-Runner had stopped at the light at Chief Justice Cushing Highway and Beechwood Street, headed north, when it was rear-ended by the Camry. The operator of the Camry, which was towed, was cited for following too closely on a state highway, police said.

Intoxicated

Police took a 32-year-old Taunton woman into protective custody on Saturday (March 15) around 8:30 p.m. after they were called about a disturbance at a home in a neighborhood off Beechwood Street. The family there said they had invited the woman, who is a relative, over for dinner when she became intoxicated and verbally abusive. Police said the woman was out of control and uncooperative and hence was taken into protective custody.

Larceny

A 35-year-old Cohasset woman reported to police on Sunday (March 16) that she had discovered about $4,000 in jewelry missing from her jewelry box. She had not worn the jewelry for about two months and had been traveling, police said.

Photos

Police investigated a report from a concerned mother who confronted a man on a walking trail off Beechwood Street on Sunday (March 16) after he appeared to take a photo on his cell phone of her children. She told police that when confronted, he said he enjoyed walking, seeing children enjoying nature and therefore took the photo. An officer checked the area and the man was no longer around. There have been no other complaints, police said.

ANTIQUE

for over 20 years was destroyed in an electrical fire last month. Although the town building inspector issued an order to demolish the building on March 13, owner Karin Gorman remains hopeful that the building is still salvageable, and someone will step up to purchase and restore it to its former glory.

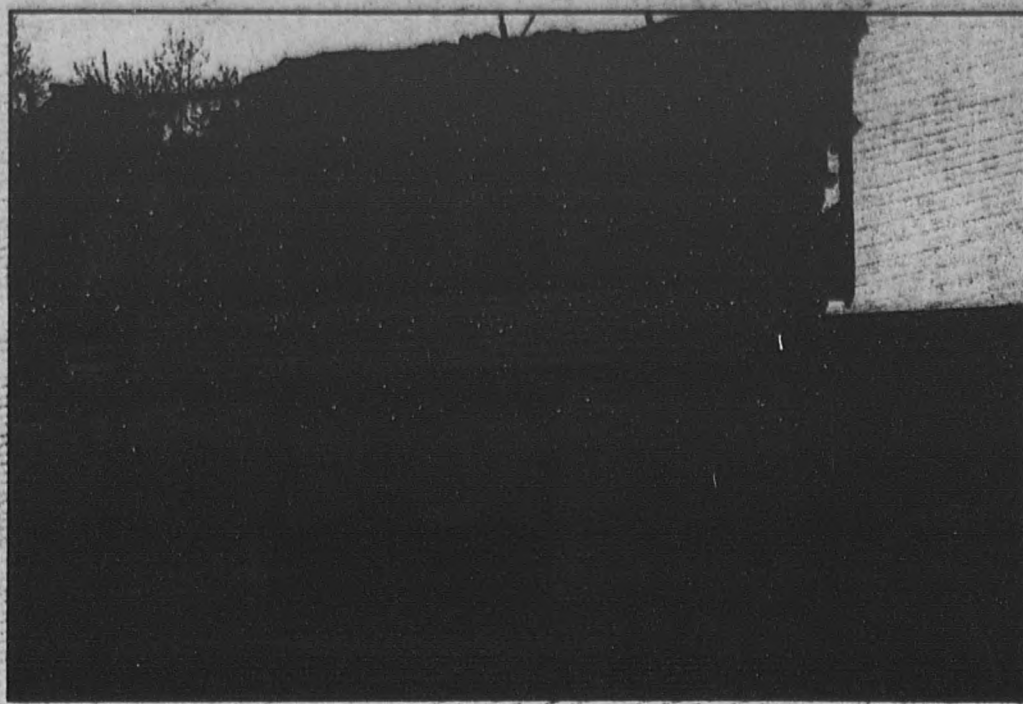

Flames tore through the two-story building, burning off the roof on Wednesday, February 13. In a mutual aid effort, firefighters from Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Rockland, Abington and more spent around four hours taming the three-alarm blaze.

The building, known for its distinctive, colorful shingles, was a standout on its spot in West Corner. While records state that the structure was built in 1900, town historian David Wadsworth believes it was even older than that, citing a report that chronicles two women depositing a bag of books at the Charles West general store in 1890. In 1910, the trustees of the Nantasket Library purchased the building from West - for whom West Corner was named, "not because it's the west part of Cohasset," said Wadsworth.

The building served as the tri-town library for Cohasset, Hingham and Hull through the 1980s. Gorman bought the building in 1994 and turned it into her Antique Emporium, attracting customers from near and far over the course of 20 years. She was planning to close on the building's sale in March.

Gorman said she is devastated by the loss.

"Financially, there's nothing I can do" to save the building, Gorman said. Last month she admitted that she did not have an insurance policy on it. "Unless someone wants to save it besides me, essentially the land is what's for sale - and I'm crushed."

"Unless someone wants to save it besides me, essentially the land is what's for sale - and I'm crushed."

Karin Gorman, owner

Coldwell Banker realtor Laurajean McDonald has the property listed for $350,000. It was assessed at $544,000, according to assessors' records.

McDonald said that she is "hoping that a contractor will see the value in the location and the lot... it is a tear-down, unfortunately."

Building Inspector Bob Egan determined that the building is "beyond repair" and issued a demolition order on March 13, giving the owner seven days to respond. Egan said that he has spoken with Gorman, and she can't afford to tear the building down.

Egan explained that due to all of the water dumped on the building to stop the fire, the inside is "pretty much frozen solid." Winter weather hasn't helped.

"It's still like an igloo inside there," said Egan. He told the Board of Selectmen during the Tuesday, March 18 meeting that the building is "beyond the point of anything but the town taking responsibility to remove an unsafe structure."

The building inspector did say that some of the building could be salvaged - if someone could pay for it. "It's true that if she had money and a plan, and the building could be stabilized and work began right away, I'd love to see what could be saved - I don't think that's realistic," said Egan.

Gorman has seven days from the day the notice was issued to have the building torn down; if she cannot do so, Egan said that the town will assume responsibility of the demolition and will put a lien on the property.

"I'm getting bids on the demolition," said Egan, telling the selectmen that so far, two local contractors are interested. The building inspector plans to appeal to the Advisory Committee for a reserve fund transfer, with the demolition to be reimbursed once the building is sold.

Egan said that the tear-down is mere "days away."

"Within a week, something should be happening," the building instructor said.

The owner holds on to the hope that parts of the building are still salvageable. "The front part of the building is really in very solid condition, despite how bad it looks," Gorman said. "Someone could reframe the building for not that bad of an investment."

Gorman said she is looking for a miracle donor to step up and save the building.

"I was hoping and praying someone would come forward and want to buy it, rehab it, or do something," she said. So far, "there hasn't been any movement in that direction."

The owner took to painting to express the hope that remains.

"I did a beautiful painting in the upstairs window of a phoenix bird, trying to get people's attention," said Gorman. She also added something to the side of the building where a mermaid she painted is still intact - the words "Save Me."

It's an "SOS" for "anyone who can help in any way, shape or form," said Gorman. "So many customers have been coming in saying, 'What can we do? I don't know what can be done; I just know I don't have the power to keep it from being torn down.'"

Solar powered lights twinkle around the phoenix painting, representing a last glimmer of hope.

"I really wanted to make a statement," said Gorman. "I always felt like the building's been a human being, a piece of me... I'm saying, 'You can rise again.'"

Should town restore harbor pavilion for John Smith Day?

Proposal floated before preservation committee

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

Officials quipped this week that Cohasset has had 400 years to plan for an event slated for Sept. 13 of this year: The anniversary of Captain John Smith's landing in what was then called Quonahassit harbor in 1614.

Nevertheless, the town is running out of time to restore the 100-year-old pavilion at Lawrence Wharf at the harbor that commemorates the historic event that occurred some six years before the Pilgrims stepped on Plimoth Rock.

On Monday night the Community Preservation Committee discussed what could be done to fix the structure that was built 100 years ago as part of the then 300th-anniversary celebration so it would be ready for John Smith Day slated for this September.

CPC member Todd Goff, who also sits on the Cohasset Historical Commission and is a proponent of restoring the structure, would love to see have some "architectural vocabulary."

But he stressed that open-

"We are talking about using taxpayer resources. We need to do the best project and not force ourselves on any kind of timeline."

Diane Kennedy, selectman and CPC member

ing up a full restoration might "open up a can of worms" in that many people have ideas about what they do not want there. "I think you whatever you put out there, there would be subsection of people who would just hate it," he said.

Goff added that, at the very least, the structure should be "gussied up" with a coat of paint and repairs to the roof to make it presentable for the town celebration.

CPC Chairman Russell Bonetti pointed out that CPC funds are restricted in terms of historical preservation. They have to be used to restore what is there and not create something new, no matter how historically relevant.

"I would not support changing it, even though I agree it could look a whole lot nicer," Bonetti said about using CPC monies. "We cannot change it, we must restore what is there."

The conversation turned into somewhat of a debate when Bonetti made note that he did not feel the pavilion fell under recreation. (Recreation, along with historical, open space and affordable housing, is one of the "buckets" each garnering 10 percent of CPC funds that are deposited annually and must be used for that purpose. The remainder of the CPC money goes into "unallocated" and can be used in any of those categories)

Bonetti said he drove by the pavilion daily and parking there is practically impossible due to all the other harbor activities.

But Goff noted that when the pavilion was constructed a century ago, cars were far less numerous. "It was, has been and will remain a recreational facility for people to use," he said.

Kennedy, who is also a member of the CPC, asked the committee to step back and pretend that time and money were not issues. "We are talking about using taxpayer resources," she said. "We need to do the best project and not force ourselves on any kind of timeline."

The committee reached a general consensus to table the discussion to allow the historical commission to weigh in.

Goff said if nothing else, an application for funding might be presented to stabilize the building and paint it so it would not be a source of embarrassment for September's commemorative event.

The CPC will be meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall.

TOWER

have a unique partnership in that the clock belongs to the town and the tower belongs to the church.

Due to the critical nature of the situation, the church went ahead and got the work done, she said.

CPC Member Margy Charles noted that the church-and-state issue was bound to come up again this year.

"There is going to be lots of talk about that," Charles said. "But the tower is definitely historic and we should put in our oar to support your request as a CPC committee and see what happens at Town Meeting."

CPC Chair Russ Bonetti, who said he personally supports the request, said the difference this year is the request for funds is coming after the fact. "The difference here is that this is a reimbursement," he said. "This could potentially open the floodgates to other requests."

After the meeting in a phone call, Bonetti made it clear that he approached the church about seeking funding for the tower restoration when he saw the work being done there. He explained that part of the role of the CPC is to look for projects

CPA funds

- The Community Preservation Act was signed into law 13 years ago and from that point on, about 150 cities and towns including Cohasset have adopted the legislation allowing them to obtain Community Preservation Funds to purchase open space; rehabilitate historic structures and develop affordable housing.

- CPA funds are generated from two sources, a town real estate tax surcharge (in Cohasset 1.5 percent after the first $100,000 of valuation) and some level of state match, determined from year-to-year. The state funds are derived from a $20 surcharge on all documents filed in the Recorder of Deeds Office statewide (e.g. mortgages, deeds, homesteads, etc.).

- Under the Community Preservation Act, 10 percent of the monies accumulated in a town's Community Preservation Fund must go toward preserving open space, another 10 percent toward historic preservation, 10 percent for recreation and 10 percent toward community housing. The remaining money can be spent for any of the above. Any money in the fund that is not appropriated can be banked for future years. Borrowing is also allowed with payments for interest and principal coming out of the fund.

- The Community Preservation Committee reviews proposals and recommends appropriating money from the Community Preservation Fund on projects supporting low and moderate income housing, historical preservation, recreation and open space acquisition and preservation. Town Meeting voters have the final say.

- How much Cohasset has in its Community Preservation Fund account was not available at the CPC meeting on March 17. Chairman Russ Bonetti said he would have the figures for the March 24 meeting. According to the Community Preservation Coalition website, Cohasset has collected about $3.8 million through its local surcharge and has received about $2.5 million in matching state funds since adopting the CPA in 2001. Over the years, the voters have allocated preservation funds at Town Meeting for myriad projects ranging from preserving town archives to purchasing open space.

that could use preservation funds.

"I feel that the town has an obligation to protect a valuable town-owned object (the clock) from being damaged in the event the tower were to structurally fail, which is why I approached First Parish," he said.

At this week's meeting, CPC member Todd Goff suggested that going forward, the church have a Historic Structures Report done on the meetinghouse.

"It is the most important building in town and an HSR would put you on a preservation calendar so you would know categorically every detail in that building from its foundation to the roof line."

He explained that an HSR would provide the church with informed stewardship of the building so it would not be reacting to problems such as the rot in the tower.

"Stewardship of a building is like wrestling a tiger," Goff said. "I understand it is not easy. It is hard and coming up with funding is a never-ending struggle."

McMorris said she appreciated the suggestion and the parish committee would be seeking out Goff's advice about the possibility of obtaining an HSR.

Larry Lunt of First Parish told the committee that the downside of not repairing the clock tower could be exposing the town to lawsuits. "If a Nor'easter brought that tower down and the town clock fell on town property and hurt someone, what kind of financial exposure would Cohasset face?" he asked. "The church should not be penalized for going ahead and repairing it."

people to use doggy bags.

Quigley said that one woman commented, "The dogs can't read, but the people can."

The selectwoman noted that the town does have a bylaw requiring clean up, however, "It's pretty impossible to enforce."

Gaumer thinks that pet owners should follow the honor code. "Regardless of what the bylaw says, just honor it because the dog is your responsibility."

The selectman noted that this issue could come up again if a Cohasset dog park becomes a reality. Gaumer mentioned the idea during a BOS meeting last month.

"We have little bundles of dog poop all over the place."

Selectman Karen Quigley

While a dog park "won't resolve the issue" of folks not picking up after their pets, Gaumer thinks it will be a nice place for dog owners and dogs alike to congregate.

Gaumer said he passed the idea along to Trish Morse, the President of the Cohasset Working Dog Foundation, and "asked for her organizational skills" to get the ball rolling. Gaumer asked Morse to assemble a "small group of folks" to try to make a dog park a reality.

UPDATE

Friends of Cohasset Elder Affairs meet

Friends of Cohasset Elder Affairs hosted its annual members meeting Feb. 26th at South Shore Art Center. This was an opportunity to report on this past year's activities funded by the Friends, learn the update of Cohasset's long-awaited senior center as well as hear from Coral Grande, director of CEA, Paul Kierce, chairman of the Board of CEA and Marita Carpenter, president of South Shore Service League.

Karen Golden Oronte, president of The Friends of CEA introduced fellow members Joan Brown, John Campbell, Dan Volungis and Mary Kay Richardson. The Friends is a nonprofit group, lead by volunteers whose mission is to support the interests, well-being and enjoyment of the elders through Cohasset Elder Affairs.

Other than funding educational and entertaining events, a highlight from last year is the five-year anniversary of the weekly Monday café, homemade breakfast, at the Lightkeepers that will resume April 7.

John Campbell reiterated the need for volunteers and search for board members. Anyone interested in learning more can contact Karen at oronte@comcast.net.

AROUND TOWN

Cohasset teens awarded scholarships to BC High

Happy spring!

Hello Cohasset and HAPPY SPRING 2014! I am hoping to see more and more signs of spring being here each day, even on the few days that may still feel a bit like winter. I have seen some green grass here and there, a few purple flower things poking up in spots and hear the singing of the birds each day. Spring has definitely sprung and just needs to keep moving forward in the right direction. If you can, try to get outside each day, even if only for a short time. Take a walk, play with the kids in the yard or at the beach or head to a park to get some much-needed fresh air and enjoy all that the change of seasons has to offer. It has definitely been helping my mood that is for sure.

BC High

William J. Kemeza, president of Boston College High School, announced that Daniel Driscoll and Charles Pyne of Cohasset have been named recipients of Boston College High School Academic Merit Scholarships.

Each year, Boston College High School awards more than $1.7 million in scholarship and financial aid to qualified students from all four-class years.

The scholarships were awarded to students from a diverse and highly competitive applicant pool to the BC

High class of 2018. The students were selected based on their outstanding work on the entrance examination, recommendations from teachers and their distinguished academic performance at Cohasset Middle School.

"We have carefully selected the most qualified young men from a highly competitive applicant pool to become part of BC High's 150-year tradition of academic excellence, character development and service to others," said Kemeza. "At BC High, they will be challenged in a nurturing and supportive environment and will graduate as leaders marked by competence, conscience and compassion; leaders who will engage our Church and our world."

CHS reunion

The Cohasset High School classes of 1974 and 1975 are planning a joint reunion the weekend of homecoming, Oct. 17 and 18. Plans are to gather at the homecoming football game Friday night and meet afterwards upstairs at the American Legion. Saturday night they will be at The Sons Of Italy in Hingham. More details to follow. Please pass this on to anyone you know in these classes. They will be updating their Facebook page Cohasset Alumni and CHS Classes of 1974-75 40th Reunion.

Mr. Skipper

DVDs of the 2014 Mr. Skipper Pageant from March 14th are available to purchase for $20 each. To order a copy please call Shaun Galvin at 781-424-2197 (cell) or email your request to galvin\_sm@hotmail.com

Requests can also be mailed with a check for $20.00 per DVD to Shaun Galvin P.O. Box 526 Hingham, MA 02043. Checks should be made payable to Shaun Galvin.

Gala

Come celebrate spring with the Cohasset Education Foundation (CEF) at the Annual Gala on Friday, April 11th. This year's event will be held at Atlantica Restaurant on the harbor from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Evening highlights include: live guitar music and vocals, a raffle for Red Sox tickets, and a silent auction including "priceless" service items donated by students, parents and the community. Ticket prices start at $75 and include a signature drink and light fare. For more information or to purchase tickets, please visit www.cohasseteducation.org

That is the news for this week Cohasset. Send in all your news, photos and celebration info to me no later than Tuesdays by 5 pm.

Just an FYI. We receive dean's list and honors notices from many colleges and private schools, but not all. If your son or daughter has earned recognition, please share that news directly with us!

We also LOVE new baby announcements with photos if possible. Need birth date, weight, length, names of siblings, parents and grandparents. Emailed photos are fine but glossies can be dropped off at Tedeschi's in the village in our Mariner drop box.

LIFE AT CHS

Mr. Skipper was one of the best!

MATTHEW MACCORMACK

It seems absolutely insane, but as we approach the end of third term, and spring takes hold, we are just about 75 percent done with the 2013-14 school year.

As crazy and bizarre as that is, there is still plenty to detail within the halls of 143 Pond Street. Last week-end's Mr. Skipper competition proved to be one of the best in recent memory. From hilarious skits to crazy dancing to incredible instrumental performances, there was no shortage of true talent on exhibit, and, of course, no lack of laughter from the crowded auditorium audience. Thank you to everyone who came out, as the event did a fantastic job helping to raise money for the senior class's upcoming prom.

When it was all said and done, the crown went senior Nicholas Schubert, aka "Doc." The curly haired, lanky champion won his title by putting together a fantastic overall performance, with a quick, humorous response to the Philosophical Question, a hilarious nerd costume for his signature wear, and an absolutely classic and purely original skit that somehow weaved in his unparalleled talent for origami-making. Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Skipper 2014, Nick Schubert.

After the energy of spirit week and Friday night's smashing success, we were almost guaranteed a solid, if largely dormant, following week. The National Honor Society will soon welcome its newest class of members, which will include outstanding members of both the junior and senior classes. Much of CHS got in its charitable mindset, as the Red Cross set up in the gym on Thursday for the Blood Drive. And lastly, the concert band was in full force this week, prepping for the upcoming All School Band Concert, which will take place Thursday, March 27th in the auditorium.

Well, CHS, I thank you for taking a few minutes to read my column, and I truly am excited to continue detailing the happenings of CHS in my last few weeks of high school. Have a good weekend, and remember, keep it classy Cohasset!

Matthew McCormack is a senior at CHS and regular contributor to the Cohasset Mariner.

Why Some People Think

KIDS DON'T GET ENOUGH

ART THESE DAYS. So you can see why some of them might accidentally confuse a jazz legend named Duke with royalty named duke. But it's finally time to set the record straight.

Edward Kennedy "Duke" Ellington didn't rule over a small English estate. Instead he reigned supreme over jazz institutions like powerfully on the piano, but it was the full orchestra that he considered his most compelling instrument. He introduced improvisation to his compositions — a process unheard of using a 15-piece orchestra. The result was a different approach to jazz that sparked a revolution and an evolution.

His music spread across the world with songs like "Sophisticated Lady," "In a

A piano player. A composer. An orchestra leader. Duke Ellington reigned over a land called Jazz.

Sentimental Mood," and

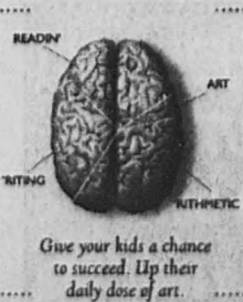

"Take the 'A' Train." His historical concert in 1953 at the Newport Jazz Festival has entered the lexicon of legendary live performances. There is no doubt about it, Ellington's brand of jazz has contributed significantly to the American songbook and to the lives of anyone who has ever tapped their foot to a beat.

Jazz is art, you dig? Art can really transform lives.

In fact, the more art kids get, the smarter they become in subjects like math and science. And the more likely they'll become well-rounded, cool members of society. For Ten Simple Ways to get more art in kids' lives, visit AmericansForTheArts.org

Give your kids a chance to succeed. Up their daily dose of art.

With a beautiful, enchanting face and inquisitive look, Caramel is right here, waiting for her perfect match and the best and most loving home. This little girl will totally enjoy being spoiled and having a safe, peaceful space where she can be showered with affection and attention. At only eight months old, she has had some scary times in her young life so we are thrilled to have her and hope she will be heading to her forever home soon.

Caramel is new to the shelter and right now, she is our youngest resident. This is rather awkward for her as she is having to deal first with the move, and then the fact that all the other cats in her room are grown, so she is feeling some trepidation. While this sweet child came in very shy, with each day that passes, and having more people spending time petting her and showing her that things will be ok, Caramel is becoming a little love.

She wants a lot of attention and will seek it out when she feels comfortable with you. Then, once she gets you interested in her, get ready for it, the purring. From this little body comes one huge motor! Honestly, you can hear Caramel from across the room. It is almost like her invitation to you to please stay and show her some affection. She does give little kisses and an occasional love nip as she gets to know you.

And toys? Well, Caramel is having fun gently trying out the ping pong balls, and stuffed mice and while the wand toys are bigger than her, she is definitely interested in all the new activity. With love and encouragement, she will be just as happy a can be in her forever home. As with many cats, loud noise will startle her but once she feels secure, she is definitely a love bug.

Her long, silky, fluffy fur, and stunning, expressive eyes, make Caramel one of the prettiest Torties we have seen. At her ears you will see beautiful soft tufts of fur that likely mean she may have some Maine Coon in her as well. Rich shades of black, tan, and golden brown fur is uniquely patterned on Caramel and her tail is awesome with gorgeous flowing fur. As she grows up, she will no doubt enjoy some brushing after she is done with playtime.

Please call Chris at 781-534-4902 for more information on this precious little girl. Caramel will be so happy to have a home of her own where she can settle in and be a little princess.

Morning Open Hours have been added on Thursdays from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. If this fits your schedule please come by. We are located at 50 L St. Our standard Open Hours are Monday evenings from 6:30 to 7:30 and Saturdays from 2-3 p.m.

You can see more of our wonderful adult cats and kittens who are waiting for their best match and home by visiting www.HSAR.org and clicking on Available Pets. On Petfinder.com you will see more photos and information. Just enter our zip code, 02045. Please check our Facebook page as well for updates and photos.

Are you a cat lover? Would you like to become involved with the shelter? Please call Sue at 617-733-2986 for more information about our organization and details for becoming a volunteer here. Every kitten and cat at HSAR is receiving the best care possible and they all need attention, nurturing and a clean and safe environment as they await loving forever homes.

We are all set for our next fundraiser! Have fun getting together with a group of friends while helping the neediest of kittens and cats. We will be having a second Dining for a Cause event on April 8, from 4-9 p.m. at The Ninety-99-Nine at 428 Lincoln St. (3A) in Hingham, sponsored for us by Girl Scout Troop 88078! If you remember our February date, we were caught in the middle of a snowstorm and luckily many people did weather the storm and came out to help us. With this new Spring date, we would love to see more of our supporters joining us to help Hull Seaside Animal Rescue's kittens and cats while enjoying an evening out! During this event 15 percent of net sales of take-out or dine in meals will be donated to Hull Seaside Animal Rescue. Please watch for flyers coming soon and come by The Ninety-99-Nine to help us in providing the best care we can for the homeless felines in our shelter.

There is still space available for the Animal Rescue League Spay Waggin' on Tuesday, March 25th. If you need to have your cat spayed or neutered, or know of someone who does, please call Casey at 781-925-3121 to book your appointment. Thank you to all of the Veterinarians and Vet techs who come here to provide this much needed service at Hull Seaside Animal Rescue.

As always, thank you to the community for supporting our efforts and dropping off bottles and cans as well as much needed cleaning supplies and fresh linens and bedding for our kittens and cats. For us, kitten season really never ended this year and we are now preparing for even more new litters of little ones who will need wet and dry kitten food both in the shelter and in foster homes. If you can help us with this we would be most appreciative!

Books in Bloom coming to library

The Community Garden Club of Cohasset will hold a Books in Bloom flower show from Friday, March 28 through Sunday, March 30, at the Paul Pratt memorial Library on Ripley Road.

The theme of the show is "The Sea." Participants may interpret the cover of their chosen book, a scene from the book, the cover itself or the book as a whole.

Regular members of the club, as well as the junior gardeners will be participating in the show.

All are welcome to view this show during regular library hours.

Garden Club

The Community Garden Club of Cohasset will meet on Tuesday, March 25, at Second Congregational Church. Coffee and conversation will begin at 9 a.m., followed by a business meeting at 9:45 a.m.

The program this month is titled London's Chelsea Flower Show. Guest speaker Maureen Bovet brings a unique background in horticulture, garden design and European history to her photo show of all the wonderful garden scenes of the Chelsea Flower Show that takes place each May in London, England.

UPDATE

Still time to sponsor a flag

What

Once again The Sons of the American Legion, Squadron 118 of Cohasset, will post hundreds of United States Flags in a poignant display honoring local veterans. The Field of Honor recognizes the veterans who have so valiantly served our country to protect and preserve our freedom.

When

Flags will fly from the lawn facing the Veterans Memorial which itself will be encircled by the flags of the 50 states. Residents will experience this inspiring display of flags from May 17 to June 1. The Healing Field dedication will be at 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 24.

How to take part

$30 individual flags may be sponsored in memory of family or friends honored. Checks should be made payable to the Sons of the American Legion with a note on the memo line of the check indicating Field of Honor. Sponsored flags can be retained as mementos of this year's Field of Honor which can be then be displayed from home or business

For more

New play place at RISE

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Whether it's a tree house, fairy home or hobbit hut, one thing is for sure – the kids at RISE have another fun place to play.

Earlier this winter, it was a yellow submarine – which served as a tribute to the Fab Four as well as an educational tool on ocean life.

RISE coordinator Grace Griffiths takes joy in crafting cardboard constructions for the students to play in, while at the same time incorporating her creations into lesson plans.

RISE, which stands for "Recreation, Imagination, Socialization, and Education," is the school's before and after school activities program, offered by the Recreation Department.

RISE is held at the Deer Hill School in Cohasset from 7 to 9 a.m. in the mornings and 3 to 6 p.m. in the afternoons. Students begin with a nutritious snack, followed by a chance to work on any homework assignments they might have, and receive assistance from staff members if needed.

The rest of the time is spent on enrichment activities, including games, sports, arts and crafts, team-building exercises, guest speakers, story time and even seasonal lesson plans that often coincide with what students are studying in school.

Griffiths oversees the program, along with recreation staffers Marie Dunkelberger and Pam Turpell.

In the summer, kids that are part of the summer playground program, which ends at 3 p.m., can also take part in RISE if they get there early or need to stay late.

Every season brings a new creation to the classroom. Past projects have included a spaceship, replica of Paris, and even a mighty medieval castle.

For spring, Griffiths wanted to bring the outside in – inspired by an old, gnarled tree in the middle of the Deer Hill playground, which is visible from the RISE classroom windows.

Griffiths pointed out the "big, burled oak the children are constantly playing on," adding that the students often sit on or around the tree during recess and RISE outdoor playtime.

"They love to play" there, she said.

Griffith's tree house design was based on the little houses in the film adaptations of the J.R.R. Tolkien tomes, the "Lord of the Rings" trilogy and "The Hobbit," with a "thatched" roof, fireplace, and oversized "mushrooms" growing outside. It has also been interpreted as a fairy house or "Swiss Family Robinson" home, according to students.

"It's fun," third grader Gabrielle Henry, 9, said of the tree house, adding that she enjoys pretending to cook in the hut. "There are little pots in there."

Nature-themed lesson plans accompany the tree house.

"It's been fun getting into spring and to talk more about nature, and what lives in trees," said Griffiths. "We watched 'The Borrowers' and talked about gnomes."

The books "Last Child in the Woods" and "Fairy House" have also been part of the curriculum.

Griffiths has brought in tree bark from a recent walk with her 11-year-old Scottish terrier, Brodie, teaching the children about moss and lichen – even Irish shillelaghs.

In fact, St. Patrick's Day (Monday, March 17) was when the tree house made its RISE debut. Shamrocks are part of the structure's outdoor décor.

"The leprechauns officially opened it Monday," said Griffiths.

In keeping with the theme of nature, spring and going green, the tree house is entirely made of recycled or found materials. The recycled cardboard is donated by Hingham Lumber.

"Before they recycle it, we play with it and then recycle it," Griffiths said, adding that she built the entire tree house in around six hours on a Saturday, based on sketches she did while watching the Tolkien movies.

The new tree house seems to be a hit so far. Griffiths shared that one of the students was sad to see the submarine go. When told that the tree house was coming next, the child was "not enthusiastic," said Griffiths.

The tree house won the student over. "She said she liked it better than the submarine," said Griffiths.

OUR VIEW

War on drugs

If any good can come from the shocking death last month of actor Philip Seymour Hoffman of a drug overdose it would be raising awareness of how drug addiction can happen to anyone.

Those following the story know that Hoffman — with a syringe still stuck in his arm — was found dead in a New York City apartment from mixed drug intoxication including heroin, cocaine, Benzodiazepines and amphetamine. Hoffman's death was ruled an accident, according to authorities.

Why would someone with family, fame, fortune and the appreciation of thousands of fans abuse drugs? There is no simple answer except that drug abuse is a complex health problem that affects people of all walks of life and economic circumstances. What is clear, however, is that these "accidental" deaths are the result of addiction. Use of heroin, an incredibly addictive drug, can result in a self-inflicted death sentence.

"There's no such thing as a good batch of heroin," said Drug Enforcement Agency special agent and spokesman Anthony Pettigrew. "It's all poison, basically. When you're using heroin, it's like playing Russian roulette."

What is really scary is that the heroin problem is hitting close to home.

Many health professionals and law enforcement officials say opiate addicts often start with prescription painkillers, then move to cheaper, more potent heroin.

Dr. Joseph Shrand, medical director at the Brockton-based CASTLE treatment program, said he has seen heroin addicts as young as 13 or 14.

At least 185 Bay State residents have died from heroin overdoses in the past four months, according to data the Massachusetts State Police recently released. And those figures exclude Boston, Springfield and Worcester, the state's three largest cities.

This news should be a wake-up call to anyone who thought the "War on Drugs" launched in the 1980s by then First Lady Nancy Reagan was won. The battle against drug abuse is ongoing and the fight is more difficult and dangerous than ever.

The Cohasset Police Department has responded to three suspected overdoses since December 2013. Thankfully there were no fatalities in those cases.

"Since early September 2013, the police department has taken steps to partner with the Cohasset Board of Health, the Cohasset Fire Department, and the Norfolk County District Attorney's Office. This week, we started a dialog with the Social Service League of Cohasset to see how they could help us," Acting Police Chief William Quigley said.

"It will be through these strong community-based partnerships that we attack this epidemic," he said.

Fireplace ashes, coals disposal

People who heat their home by burning solid fuels — coal, firewood, pellets — are reminded by Cohasset Fire Department to make sure to dispose of the ashes properly.

Place ashes in a metal ash can with a secure lid and place it away from the house, garage and deck. A single ember can stay hot for days without being detected and easily fanned back to life. Do not place ashes in cardboard boxes or plastic containers, inside the garage, the breezeway, or under the porch. Have the chimney annually cleaned by a certified professional who can also check for cracked or broken mortar.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Murray Campbell will be missed

We lost another Cohasset Treasure last week with the death of R. Murray Campbell. Over the years Murray has provided a unique service to his fellow citizens. He probably holds the record for the number of letters written to the Editor of the Cohasset Mariner. However it's not the quantity of Murray's letters but the quality of his contributions.

Each week the Mariner reports on various issues and controversies in our town. I would always look forward to Murray's "take" on these situations. Usually in the next issue he would provide a well-written (many times requiring a dictionary to confirm the meaning of a word or two) assessment.

Even those who might not agree with his position would reluctantly admit his thoughtful and factual viewpoint provided the Cohasset Mariner readers with both sides of an issue. With the loss of Jim Hamilton's humor and Murray's thoughtful responses, Cohasset and the Mariner readers have suffered a great loss.

May they both rest in peace.

Heartfelt appreciation from the McAuliffes

To all our loved ones: Words cannot express the love and gratitude extended to our family during our time of extreme sorrow. Billy McAuliffe's short life touched so many of our lives with his love, wisdom, and laughter. Thank you to all of you, be it for your cards of condolence, beautiful floral arrangements, or the delicious dishes given to us. Most of all thank you for all your loving hugs and stories shared of Billy. Every one of them bringing tears and smiles. These memories of such a special person will be imprinted in our hearts forever. Thank you all for being as special to him as he was to you. Goodbye dear Billy.

POLITICAL NOTES

GOP8 St. Patrick's Day Breakfast held

This past Sunday, March 16, the GOP8 celebrated their seventh annual St. Patrick's Day Breakfast at Scituate Country Club.

Nearly 200 South Shore Republican activists gathered to hear more than a dozen speakers and candidates roast one another and talk a little politics. For the third consecutive year, Sen. Bob Hedlund from Weymouth was the master of ceremonies. Peter Buckley, a Republican State Committeeman from Cohasset, and one of the event organizers, said, "Bob Hedlund is indispensable to the success of the event, as his easy manner and sharp wit makes the 3-hour event fly by."

Headlining the event was Lieutenant Governor candidate Karyn Polito with two other candidates seeking statewide office, Patricia Saint-Aubin for Auditor and Mike Heffernan for Treasurer.

Ed O'Connell, chairman of the Marshfield Republican Town Committee said,

"The event gets bigger every year and this year's event was the best to date." O'Connell was excited to see all the candidates, particularly four Republican challengers for a U.S. Congressional seat.

The breakfast was sponsored by GOP8, a consortium of the Republican Town Committees of Marshfield, Scituate, Hingham, Hull, Cohasset, Norwell, Duxbury and Weymouth. Janet Fogarty, state

Committeewoman from Scituate, and one of the event's founders, said, "It won't be too long before we overtake South Boston as the premiere political breakfast on St. Patrick's Day."

Collins joins historical board

The Historical Commission has gained its newest member, rounding out a full board. Francis Collins, Jerusalem Road, recently applied to join the board, which has had a small membership in recent years.

Selectman Martha Gjesteb reported Tuesday night, "With that appointment, the committee is finally full."

The commission recently started a subcommittee, which met again on Wednesday night, to plan a day of events recognizing the town's 400th year anniversary of Captain John Smith landing in Cohasset. The event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 13.

Look for more on this issue in an upcoming edition of the Mariner.

DON'T MISS THIS

Mr. Dykas is back by popular demand!

Fridays at First Parish will present Mr. Dykas leading a program of dance and games for the entire family. The January evening was a sell-out, so don't miss this Friday's return engagement, at 5:30 p.m., on March 21, at the Parish House on 25 North Main St., home of the Carriage House Nursery

A donation of $5 per family will be appreciated; pizza and cookies will be provided (byob for adults). Dykas will start the dancing at 6 p.m. This is an opportunity to avoid cooking a Friday dinner by getting out of the house so that children can play with each other and their parents.

Town Hall: Beginning of Restoration and Renovation

Feasibility Study of 2008

The following is the third of eight articles by the Town Hall Restoration and Renovation Committee.

The beginning of the present day restoration and renovation plans for the Town Hall began in 2007. At that time (as is the case today) there were many complaints from town employees, officials and citizens as to the functionality or lack thereof of the old Town Hall. Especially, bathrooms that don't work, heating problems, electrical issues, etc.

In order to begin in rectifying these issues that everyone knew existed, one would first have to quantify them. Therefore, in 2007 a committee was assembled by the Selectman to partake in a feasibility study for the old Town Hall. The Committee consisted of David H. Farrag (a real estate attorney and Chairman of the Conservation Commission), Lisa Pratt, (Cohasset Drama Club), Werner Diekmann (Engineer and Member of the Cohasset Historical Society), David Wadsworth (Town Archivist and Town Historian), and Donna McGee (former Advisory Board Member).

The charge of the Committee was subject but not limited to:

- Perform an existing Space Utilization Analysis of the building to determine the best use of the existing space.
- Perform an Energy Efficiency review of the building envelope, including recommendations for improvements.
- Undertake an existing conditions survey and evaluation of all existing electrical, mechanical, plumbing and fire protection systems, with recommendations for improvements.
- Perform an analysis of interior and exterior architectural existing conditions and make recommendations for protecting the historic integrity of the building.
- Define the scope of work necessary for the rehabilitation/restoration of the antique portion of the Town Hall
- Prepare cost estimates for all proposed improvements and general rehabilitation.

The primary design goals for Cohasset Town Hall will be to improve the use of interior space, improve the energy efficiency of the building envelope, and to improve existing utilities and building systems.

A Request for Proposal (RFP) was bid for these services and the architectural firm Carr, Lynch and Sandell was chosen and awarded the contract to perform the feasibility study. Jim Sandell Architect and Cohasset Resident was the team leader; John Hecker and associate in the firm had extensive experience in restoration as well (John had worked on the report of the Old South Meetinghouse in Boston). The study was comprehensive, it included a structural study of the building, building code analysis, electrical analysis, historical analysis, HVAC, plumbing analysis and cost estimation for the buildings restoration and renovation.

Historical Analysis
As a part of the historical analysis of the building, Sarah B. Chase, from Lexington who holds a Masters Degree in Historic Preservation from the Boston University was the preservation consultant. Her role was to quantify the historical aspects of the building, which was not an easy task. The building was built in 1857, Mezzanine added in 1879 and renovation in 1928. After that some maintenance was sporadically completed through the years. There was a lot of historical overlap to ascertain. Sarah was able to discover the age of all the windows as well as the historic features of the building inside and out. Her work is encapsulated in the feasibility report. She also was able to create the process of how the windows should be properly restored.

A lot of history of the building was discovered during this process. In the beginning of the feasibility report all the Articles from town meeting regarding Town Hall were synthesized and listed from 1857-the present.

Structural Analysis
Structural Analysis was performed by Structures North a leader in the business. They found the existing structure to be in excellent condition. The review of the existing floor capacities and overall layout and condition of the vertical structure showed that it is capable of either maintaining its existing structural form or adapting to a proposed space re-use in which a floor similar to the original 2nd floor would be reconstructed for use as a performance space.

However, they also identified some existing structural concerns caused by water infiltration at the foundation and purlin overstress at the roof. Those conditions will require attention in the form of discrete repairs.

One of the reasons that water was infiltrating the basement was that the gutters were not the proper size. They were residential size instead of commercial. Therefore, water would sheet off the building during a rainstorm, drop to the ground and seep into the basement as flooding occurred.

Electrical Systems
Architectural Engineers Inc. of Boston performed the Electrical, HVAC, and Plumbing analysis. Under the 1987 addition project, a new 600amp, 120/208V 3-phase, 4-wire electrical service was installed in the addition. The original 200 amp fused panel service, in the original building, was reconnected to the new service. All power distribution in the original building has reached the end of its useful life and needs to be replaced. The existing service may be re-used to feed new electrical panels in the original building; however, the capacity of this service will still need to be reviewed to confirm its ability to serve the updated original building.

They recommend replacing the existing FACP, even though it was previously replaced in 1987, to facilitate compatibility with new devices and circuiting. The existing master box may be re-used and reconnected to the new system. The existing devices and circuiting from the 1987 addition can be re-connected to the new system.

All existing lighting equipment had reached the end of their useful life and needed to be replaced. All lighting controls and system efficiencies will meet the requirements of the most recent energy code. Emergency lighting will be provided with integral battery ballasts or unit emergency lighting units.

Fire Protection

The existing old Town Hall building is currently not provided with an automatic fire-suppression system (sprinklers). The 1987 addition was provided with a wet sprinkler system.

The original building will require a complete sprinkler system when it is modified. Wet sprinkler heads will be required in the basement storage areas, the dressing rooms, the stage area and the fly space above, the main auditorium and the Town Offices. Therefore, the sprinkler system for the 1987 addition should be expanded to include the original building.

The conclusion was that the old Town Hall was in a serious state of disrepair: Non-working toilets, holes in the floor and ceiling, no fire suppression system. Most if not all the systems in the building were at the end of their lifecycle. The issues of the old Town Hall had now been quantified.

Next week's article will detail the plans and partial restoration from the 2008 Feasibility Study.

EARTH AND SPIRIT

We must change our lives...

THE REV. KEN READ-BROWN

I was among the well over a hundred people who attended the showing of "Chasing Ice" at the Loring Theater in Hingham last weekend, sponsored by Sustainable South Shore and the South Shore "node" of 350MA. Through stunning time-lapse photography the film documents the rapid retreat of glaciers in Greenland, Iceland and Alaska. We saw a chunk of glacier the size of Lower Manhattan splitting off and heaving itself into the ocean. We saw miles of rock and rubble where only a few years ago a glacier flowed. And we were told that though there are a few glaciers around the world that are growing, the rest are shrinking, and shrinking quickly. All this the result, need it be said, primarily of global warming and climate change caused by the release of tons of CO2 and other greenhouse gases into the atmosphere by - us.

When the house lights went up, the questions from the audience to glaciologist Sarah Das were mostly technical in nature. They were good questions from a curious, engaged audience. But I suspect that many in the audience shared, maybe with tears in their eyes, the same deep sadness, a kind of grief really, that I felt as I watched this inexorable loss. It is a sadness rooted in the knowledge that all

But I suspect that many in the audience shared, maybe with tears in their eyes, the same deep sadness, a kind of grief really, that I felt as I watched this inexorable loss.

this was not just about glaciers; for we know that the melting of the glaciers is simply one of the more dramatic symptoms of global climate change that is having an increasingly devastating effect on human beings too, as well as on just about every other form of life on this earth, this small planetary home we share.

What then? How do we move beyond our sadness, our grief, even despair?

We must change our lives - to begin with, consuming less in every way, from reducing energy use at home to traveling less. But, we must also change the lives of our political leaders, by showering them with demands to lead us toward a clean-energy economic system based on need, not greed. Further, we must change the lives of corporate leaders too. If, for example, we are fortunate enough to have investments or if we are part of a pension fund, we can divest or, in the case of pensions, demand divestment from stocks that are part of the fossil fuel industry; instead, such funds can be invested in socially responsible, clean-energy alternatives.

Our Old Ship congregation recently voted to divest our endowment in precisely this way. And by doing so we have become part of a national movement led by 350.org and other climate change organizations, a movement that is encouraging religious bodies, universities, foundations, and others to divest, thereby pressuring the fossil fuel industry to change its ways. Is such divestment merely symbolic, as some would say? I would affirm that it is indeed largely symbolic - but not merely. Symbols matter. Symbols - from national flags to religious images and everything in between - do indeed motivate us human beings, can in fact change the world.

All this said, whatever each of us chooses to do in response to the urgent crisis of climate change evoking feelings of sadness and grief as we watch a glacier melting or a wildfire or hurricane raging or a coastal village flooding - we must do something. The next generation is, as we might put it, watching us. And the next generation will surely ask of us: What were you doing when the symptoms of catastrophic climate change became too obvious to ignore?

Rev. Read-Brown has been the minister of First Parish in Hingham (Old Ship Church), Unitarian Universalist, since 1987. He is also a member of REACH (Responsible Energy Alternatives Coalition of Hingham - hinghamreach.org), of the South Shore "node" of 350MA.org, and Sustainable South Shore. He can be contacted at oldship-krb@comcast.net.

FOR THE RECORD

We're still going (Boston) Strong

GREGORY MATHIS

The 100th Boston Marathon in 1996 was a huge spectacle, drawing in the largest field of runners to date to participate in one of the world's iconic sporting events. Everyone and anyone with the will and the means wanted to be a part of that history.

This year's running of the Boston Marathon will rival that historic day in many ways following last year's tragedy. Runner, spectators, sponsors and others will undoubtedly make this another Boston Marathon to remember.

You can expect this year's event to be many things. While it will be sad and emotional, expect it to be uplifting and inspirational, too. It will be a show of strength, determination, perseverance, and pride.

Boston Strong has taken on a life of its own since that tragic day last April. T-shirts, hats and other accessories remind us of the slogan, but many live those words each and every day.

As we head into the homestretch, especially for those training for this year's marathon, we'll be featuring the stories of some amazing people putting their best foot forward to make sure those impacted by the bombings aren't forgotten, and that Boston remains stronger than ever.

We're tracking some inspirational stories, including those planning to run for TEAM MRB, The Martin Richard Charitable Foundation. One runner we heard from is hoping to help raise $10,000 for the foundation and will be taking part in a lemonade and bake sale later this month - talk about grassroots fundraising.

We've also heard from a Boston Police Sergeant who was assigned to the finish line last year on Boylston Street when the bombings occurred. This year he will be running his first Boston Marathon to assist with the fundraising efforts for a woman severely injured from the bomb blasts.

There is a local husband and wife team running this year's marathon to raise money for the Krystle Campbell scholarship fund. Krystle was one of three who lost their lives last Marathon Monday.

Two life-long friends and "Norwellians" are running the Boston Marathon this year to raise money for the Tufts Medical team and Brigham and Women's Hospital.

A mom from Pembroke will be back on the marathon route again next month and hoping to cross the finish line. She was in a pack of people stopped by police after the bombs went off and is one of many who accepted the Boston Athletic Association's offer to run this year's marathon to finish what she started last year.

We've also heard from a medical tent volunteer who was at the finish line last year and witnessed the chaos and carnage following the explosions.

"This year will be much different," said Scott Aronson. "I am nervous but excited to get back."

These are just some of the stories we'll be following as we get closer to Marathon Monday.

There's still time if you have a story to share, or if you know of a worthy cause or hero among us to feature. Please send an email to gmathis@wickedlocal.com.

Selectmen approve May events

The Board of Selectmen was in a "yes" mood when it came to approving events during the Tuesday, March 18 meeting.

The board voted unanimously (5-0) to approve the Cohasset Youth Baseball & Softball Association (CYBSA) Annual Opening Day Parade and MS Walk, both scheduled for Saturday, May

3. However, the times of the events do not conflict.

The CYBSA parade starts at the common and ends at the ball fields. The MS Walk, a fundraiser for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, will set up at 7:30 a.m. and end around 2 p.m. The walk starts and finishes at the South Shore Community Center.

The selectmen also approved the Carriage House Nursery School's Family Fun Day for Saturday, May 17. The inaugural event is a fundraiser for Nursery School scholarships and will include entertainment, popcorn and cotton candy. The event is from 1 to 4 p.m.

New Sailing Club has maritime history

Construction underway

When you look at them, they appear as rudders on a tiller, but when you look more closely, you will discover that the brackets on the new Cohasset Sailing Club – which are of a markedly darker wood than the rest of the post and beam structure – have an amazing natural and nautical history.

The beginning of the story begins two decades ago. When the USS Constitution, or “Old Ironsides,” was being restored in the early 1990s, the need for authentic “ship’s knees” was the catalyst for a multi-agency effort in South Carolina that resulted in the South Carolina Historic Ships Supply Program (SCHSP).

Some of the wood for the project was retrieved from a supply stored underwater since the Civil War. Truckloads of trees from the South were sent to Massachusetts for the restoration, more than were needed for Old Ironsides.

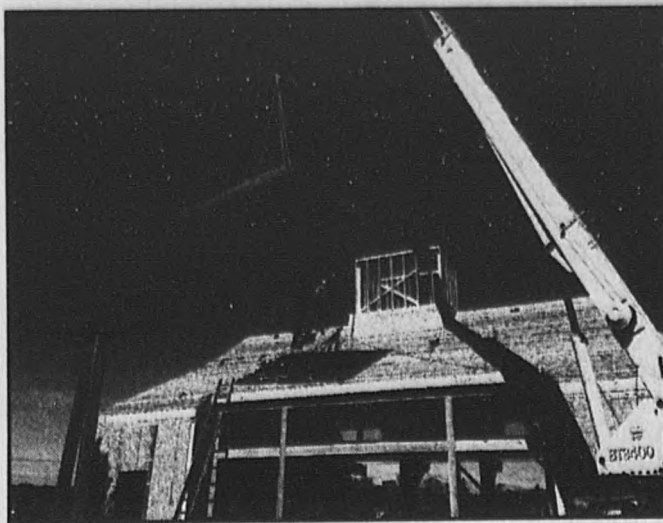

The work of the SCHSP continues in keeping stands of live oaks viable and making building materials for restorations available.

In the 18th and 19th centuries, live oak trees found in the South were in demand, both in this country and in Europe, to make braces for the bottom of wooden ships and other uses where great strength and curved shapes were required.

These trees (Quercus virginiana) are not actually oaks at all, but belong to the beech family. Unseasoned live oak is easy to work with, but once dried it becomes as hard as iron.

During the mid-nineteenth century, iron hulls came into use, and the live oaks were no longer in demand. These trees were often cut down to make roads and build bridges.

When the Cohasset Sailing Club was designed, Architect Susan Hoadley of Hoadley Martinez Architects saw many challenges. The building had to fit into the tidal flood plain, conservation, and zoning restrictions, while providing a facility expanded a growing program that is “open to all that want to learn to sail.”

The design challenge was met by a collaboration of the Architects and the Post and Beam Designers, working with Jim Wagner Jr. of Wagner Construction. Sourcing was key, as Hoadley Martinez specified the profiles and design of the post and beam design.

Hardwick Post & Beam was able to secure some of the live oak ship knee stock brought up to Massachusetts in the 1990s for use as braces in the new Cohasset Sailing Club. They are a beautiful and practical feature of the construction that tells the story of the role of the live oak ships knees in the history of wooden shipbuilding.

The post and beam frame for the Sailing Club went up in February after the old Lighthouse Lane building, erected in 1979, was razed in October 2013. The new building is expected to be open for sailing season.

Look for more on the new Sailing Club building in upcoming editions of the Mariner.

COHASSET SAILING CLUB

Spring signups at health fair

While the Cohasset Sailing Club was founded in 1960 in order to give all the town's children an affordable sailing option, the CSC also offers adult memberships and classes for beginner- and intermediate-level sailors who want to test the waters for any number of reasons.

The CSC is a way to enjoy Cohasset's beauty from another vantage point, and to gain access to the boats available for free sailing during the summer. This is an easy way to sail without having to deal with the upkeep and expense of keeping a boat – or to try out a regular sailing commitment before investing in a boat. Some may have never had the time or opportunity to learn to sail, and been intrigued watching the white sails from ashore in past summers.

Most find that it is less expensive in terms of time and money to learn the basics at the CSC on the weekend rather than journey farther away or stay in Boston after a day at the office. Others sailed half a lifetime ago and need a refresher course. Some join to experience what their kids are learning in the Junior Program, and to participate in the Stanton Racing series and post-race barbecues on Sunday evenings.

The Stanton races have the adult family member serve as crew while the kid who has completed the Sailor (first-year) level skips the boat. Some adult members also enjoy participating in the Porter Racing series, which takes place on selected Thursday evenings during the summer season. Like the Junior Program, the Adult Program is a way to forge new friendships, as is the CSC's annual launch party and silent auction.

The Adult Program is an accelerated course offered on eight consecutive Saturday mornings. Bob Cunningham, a CSC trustee with years of sailing experience, oversees the classes that are taught by seasoned CSC instructors. In the past, students have ranged from 17-year-olds to 75-plus-year-olds. Each three-hour class will combine shore and on-water activities, with a distinct weather-permitting emphasis on the latter. To promote a high-quality learning experience, classes are kept small; two to three adults per boat plus an instructor to maximize the sailing time. The beginning class will cover basic navigation, sailing, docking, and elementary racing. Students benefit from a well-organized and thorough curriculum that has been refined over the years. The beginner-level class is geared to passing the helmsman's test as soon as possible – then students can take a sailboat out by themselves or with a companion and further refine their skills. The intermediate level class will build on the skills learned in the beginning sequence, and will work with individual students to improve or explore particular areas of interest.

Registration to join the CSC for the 2014 sailing season and signup for Junior and Adult classes is next Sunday, March 30, at the Cohasset Health and Recreation Fair, which will take place at Deer Hill School from 1 to 4 p.m. The application and class registration form is available at: cohassetsailingclub.org. There more detailed information can be found about programs, see the progress on the new clubhouse and print the registration form. Bringing a completed form on March 30 will expedite the registration process. A second registration day will be offered in early May at the new clubhouse.

Selectmen review FY15 budget

Earlier start sought next year; Advisory to vote Monday

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Cohasset officials have been busy crunching numbers.

Per the town's budget process, the budget is built and presented by the town manager and finance department, then presented to and vetted by key town boards, including the Budget Planning Group, Advisory Committee and Board of Selectmen.

The budget is voted on and adopted every year on the Town Meeting floor – registered voters have the final say. This year's town meeting is Monday, April 28.

Since Cohasset hired a new Town Manager in January, it's been crunch time to get through the budget process leading up to Town Meeting.

Selectmen vice-chair Diane Kennedy believes that next (fiscal) year, the process should start sooner so that the town has a “plan and a roadmap.”

“It's incumbent on the leadership in the community to start the FY16 conversation in July,” said Kennedy. “We really do have to pay attention to trends, housing, and the needs of the town... It's just a bigger conversation; we have to be on it at the policy level. What are the real needs to run this department and that department? We need to have that conversation in September.”

Town Manager Chris Senior delivered FY15 numbers, along with a five-year budget forecast with the Board of Selectmen during the Tuesday, March 18 meeting.

The forecast was also presented at the March 11 Budget Planning Group meeting; the BPG voted to approve the Fiscal Year 2015 last week. The School Committee also approved the district's $16,957,498 budget, a $720,464 or 4.44 percent increase over FY14.

The town budget for FY15 is $10,485,124 – adding in the school district, it's a total of $27,442,620.

Highlights include a 2.5 percent increase in the property tax levy for FY15, $400,000 in additional revenue from new growth, an increase of nearly $100,000 in state aid, a “proposed modest increase in local receipts by $149,673 (4.4 percent).”

There are some increases in health care expected during the next fiscal year, which starts on July 1, however the town could realize some savings in retiree healthcare by switching health plans (see related story). Currently, the health insurance increase is projected to be a 9.8 percent hike while pensions are going up by 10 percent.

Technology

Senior also discussed building up the town's technology budget and funding a human resources function. “I think we are going to need to have some resource,” Senior said of HR. “It may not need to be a person, but could be a service... We need to have flexibility to spend that.”

While noting that the town's Chief Technology Officer, Rob Bonell, is “doing a great job” running IT for both the town and schools, Senior said that more needs to be done.

“There need to be some more resources,” the town manager said. “It would clearly help support the whole town's infrastructure, including the schools.”

The FY15 budget also proposes adding $100,000 to the town's Other Post Employment Benefits (OPEB) reserve fund to help pay for the town's outstanding liability to fund retirees' health care.

While the OPEB liability only increases year to year, Senior explained that the town's debt exclusion will continue to decline.

“Debt is falling off the books,” said Senior, “which frees up the town's ability to do more capital investment. It's timely and positive.”

Despite increases in new growth and local receipts, Senior does not advocate plugging additional funds into the town's annual operating budget, but rather saving money in the reserve accounts. This notion is also in keeping with the town's budget policies, approved by the selectmen in 2012.

“I strongly believe we should regularly put money into stabilization,” said Senior, whether it's “extra, free cash, or one-shot revenue.”

The FY15 budget has yet to be voted on by the selectmen or Advisory Committee – Advisory will vote for each department's budget during the Monday, March 24 meeting.

Selectmen commended Senior for finalizing the budget after starting work in Cohasset two months ago, moving from North Hempstead, N.Y. where he worked as deputy town supervisor.

“Chris has worked very hard to work with people and build consensus, and bridge all the gaps and demands,” said selectman Karen Quigley.

“I understand building consensus is hard. Nothing's ever perfect,” said Senior. “I'm grateful people have committed to longer-term conversation all across the spectrum.”

HEALTHCARE

Town, retirees could save big

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Officials are sharpening pencils in an effort to save money on healthcare.

The town of Cohasset and its retirees could experience relief in health insurance costs. Officials are considering whether to move to a Medicare prescriptive drug plan (PDP). The Board of Selectmen plans to take a vote during the Tuesday, March 25 meeting.

Representatives from the Massachusetts Interlocal Insurance Association (MIAA) explained how the savings would work during the Tuesday, March 18 selectmen meeting.

Jill Gallant, MIAA senior account executive said that the proposed changes will only apply to the prescription drug portion of the benefits. Otherwise, “the benefits have no change whatsoever for the medical portion.”

This means that retirees will be able to keep their current doctors, said Gallant, adding that the costs savings is “partially due” to the federal government's Affordable Care Act.

Cohasset currently has 75 retirees enrolled in the Managed Blue plan, according to Gallant.

The prospective changes would occur starting on July 1, 2014 and include decreased rates overall. Under the town's current Managed Blue Medicare plan for seniors, retirees pay $351.49 monthly for coverage; on the new PDP, that amount shrinks to $237.76.

The retiree's monthly premium would drop from $175.75 to $118.88; annually, it drops from $2,108.94 to $1,426.56, a savings of $682.38 per year.

The town is expected to save $102,357 annually on

Joe Callahan, MIAA marketing manager premium costs.

While the premiums go down, the cost for prescription drugs does go up, depending on the script. The new PDP involves fixed costs for retail prescriptions, rather than having Medicare cover a percentage of the costs.

Gallant explained the logic behind the switch.

“Retail costs differ from pharmacy to pharmacy – it's difficult for retirees to plan and budget. A fixed dollar amount makes it easier for planning.”

Joe Callahan, MIAA marketing manager, said that MIAA will be on hand to guide retirees through the changes. “This is a product we've implemented in many communities,” said Callahan.

“We have a full team between MIAA and Blue Cross that will meet with retirees and walk them through the process... We prepare them and give them plenty of notice and time, and make sure nobody leaves confused.”

Callahan encourages retirees to send family members if they cannot attend a future information session. “We will sit with them and look at the cost analysis for them.”

Officials said that the savings seemed too good to be true.

Town Manager Chris Senior said when he first saw the savings, “I was skeptical – what's the catch?”

The only issue seems to be that a few prescriptions may not be covered by the new PDP. Senior said the he only noticed two, and they were vitamins that could alternatively be purchased over the counter. “Others were all covered. [MIAA] looked at every drug every single one of our retirees used.”

Senior said he is “comfortable” with the prospective changes. “Retirees save dramatically... It's one of those rare moments where everybody wins: the town, taxpayers and the retirees.”

OPEB

Making the switch will also help the town tackle its $37 million-plus unfunded Other Post-Employment Benefits liability for retiree medical benefits, a number that only increases each year.

“One of the charges you've given me is to implement an OPEB plan and get savings,” said Senior. “This lays the groundwork.”

Gallant said that the potential savings is “the best case scenario I've ever seen.” Senior agreed. “This is a victory all the way around.”

Selectmen seemed to remain cautiously optimistic. “There's really no change in the plans or the doctors, there's very little disruption to the retirees, and the town and retirees save money. It does seem too good to be true,” said selectman Karen Quigley.

Selectmen chair Fred Koed quipped, “That's why we're so reluctant to vote on it.”

“We don't usually have good news!” said vice-chair Diane Kennedy.

The board is expected to vote on the plan during its next full meeting (Tuesday, March 25).

ELECTION UPDATE

Selectmen's race a go

Koed returns papers, announces treasurer

By Erin Dale
edale@wickedlocal.com

Citizens continue pulling papers to run for the May 10 Town Election.

Nomination papers became available on Monday, February 10; those interested in running for office had until 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 20 (after Mariner press time) to pull papers. Papers must be returned to the Town Clerk's office for certification by Monday, March 24 at 5 p.m.

So far, there is a three-way race for the Board of Selectmen, which has two terms set to expire, positions currently held by chairman Fred Koed and vice-chair Diane Kennedy. Both have decided to run again, with former Governance Committee chair Kevin McCarthy vying for one of those spots.

Kennedy currently serves as vice-chair and is running for her second term, having been elected in 2011. McCarthy, an attorney, currently serves on the Governance Committee. All three candidates have returned their nomination papers and are officially in the running.

- Koed, who is currently in his fifth term as a selectman, issued his candidate announcement last week, saying that he wants to keep the town going "on the right track."

This week, Koed announced that Peter "Sam" Hassan of 61 Hull St. will serve as Koed's campaign Treasurer.

"We're glad to have Sam on board, he's a great resource and his experience in Cohasset makes him a key asset to the Committee," Koed said in a statement.

Hassan said he is excited about joining the campaign. "Fred's balanced approach to town government has Cohasset moving in the right direction and he's the right candidate to maintain that momentum."

Other candidates

The School Committee, Planning Board, Board of Health, Housing Authority, Library Board of Trustees, Recreation, Sewer and Water Commissions have also drawn applicants.

Rolf Gjestebj pulled papers this week to run for the Water Commission.

Election newcomer Stephen Brown has pulled papers for the Library Board of Trustees, while Library Trustee Carolyn Coffey is running for reelection on her board, and has returned her papers.

Virginia Froio announced plans to run for the Recreation Commission last month, seeking the open five-year seat being vacated by Katy Lydon, who has decided not to run for a second term.

Michael Dickey is running for reelection on the Planning Board; Brian Frazier also pulled papers for Planning.

Mary Granville, an incumbent on the Board of Assessors, pulled papers last week.

School Committee member Paul Ognibene is running for a second term; also running for reelection are Robin Lawrence for the Board of Health, and Town Moderator Daniel Evans.

Pulling papers the first week were Wayne Sawchuk for the Sewer Commission and Virginia Laugelle Najmi for the Housing Authority. Beverly Mcallister-Koswick pulled papers for Housing this week.

Town Clerk Carol St. Pierre, who started in the town clerk's office in 1997 and was elected assistant clerk in 1999 and clerk in 2011, also pulled and returned papers for her position.

CANDIDATES CORNER

Kennedy campaign kick-off reception

Candidate for Selectman Diane Kennedy will host a reception at the Focus Gallery, Depot Court, from 6 to 8 p.m., on Thursday, April 3. Cohasset residents are welcome to come by and learn more about the state of the town and ways in which to help in Kennedy's reelection campaign.

Diane was elected to her first three-year term in May 2011 and for two years has been Board of Selectman, Vice Chairman. She is Selectmen liaison to numerous committees including Budget Planning Group, Cohasset Elder Affairs, the Sewer Commission and the School Committee.

For more information on the campaign, contact kennedy4cohasset@gmail.com.

McCarthy attends CEA meeting

Attending last week's meeting of the Cohasset's Council on Elder Affairs (CEA), I learned about the many services the town provides to senior citizens to enable them to remain in their homes. Among the services offered by CEA are:

- Transportation services for medical appointments and other errands essential for daily living, including trips to food markets;
- Emergency contact services and reassurance check-in calls;
- Counselors to assist seniors and their families with health and legal issues; and

- Group luncheons, exercise programs, social opportunities, weekly informational seminars and Meals on Wheels.

I was excited to learn about these many important services and I fully support the good work being done by the CEA. Cohasset's elders have contributed to the town for many years and we want them to remain a vital and integral part of our community.

The project to provide a new Elder facility to serve the growing senior population is well underway.

Sophie will be accompanied by her handler, Trish Morse.

Lead paint poisoning affects over one million children today.

Learning disabilities, hearing loss, speech delays, violent behavior and, in rare cases, seizures and even death: these are just some of the effects lead paint poisoning has on young children. If your home was built before 1978, lead paint on your walls, doors, windows and sills may be dangerous. And it's not just large paint chips that can cause damage. In fact, three granules of lead dust are enough to poison your child. Let's make all kids lead-free kids. ## YOUTH LACROSSE

Grade seven/eight Boys lacrosse coach wanted

Cohasset Club Lacrosse is looking for an experienced lacrosse coach for their 7/8 grade boys "middle school" team for this Spring.

The season runs from early April to end of May, Tues/Wed/Thursday afternoons (no Mondays and only some Friday games).

There are no nights or weekends, and it is a paid position.

Travel with the team to away games via bus is required.

Playing and/or coaching experience is required.

The program "attitude" is casually competitive lacrosse fun and is an ideal position for a work-at-home person, teacher, or recent college grad.

GIRLS LACROSSE

Excited to start season

Girls worked hard to be ready for new campaign

The Cohasset Mariner

The Cohasset High School girls lacrosse team started their season this week and is excited about how the team looks in preparation for what should be a very strong campaign. The team is led by tri-captains Molly Fitzgerald, Kathryn Dunn and Mackenzie Axelson, three seniors with a lot of experience and energy to push the squad to its full potential.

Head Coach Kully Reardon is back for her second season at the helm and likes what she sees so far.

"I am thrilled to be entering the season with this group of girls," she said. "The seniors have already set a great precedent of hard work and team pride. They have worked tirelessly in the off season to build some great camaraderie, not to mention all of them will go on to play at the next level next year. We will be extremely fit and once again hope to have a strong and fast midfield, a very experienced defense and a young and powerful offense."

The defense will be led by junior goalie Taylor Frederick and returning starters Molly Fitzgerald, junior, Megan Fitzgerald and sophomore Kyle Burke. Molly Fitzgerald will split time between defense and the midfield and look to continue her dominant play and improve on her school record of 52 caused turnovers from last season.

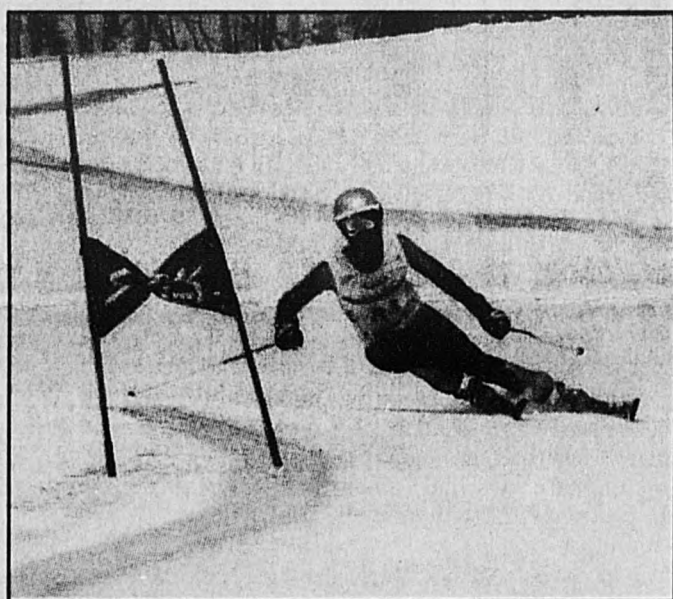

Frederick split time in the cage last year and is poised to have a big season. She will be

SHAKEDOWN FOUNDATION

Laughter for a good cause

The WATD/Bill Wilhelm Scholarship Fund and the Shakedown Foundation for Parkinson's research are holding a comedy night on Saturday, March 29th at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus on Rt. 139 in Pembroke.

Bill Wilhelm has been the voice of South Shore sports for the past 37 years for WATD radio and Arthur Boyle has been his color analyst for the last 15 years. The scholarship honors Wilhelm's dedication to student athletes across the South Shore. The foundation started by Billy Boyle to honor Wilhelm and his dad, who both have Parkinson's, is raising money for Parkinson's research.

The headliner is Frank Santorelli of the Sopranos and HBO Comedy along with Pembroke's own Billy Boyle who is quickly becoming a South Shore favorite. Joining Frank Santorelli and Billy Boyle are Dave Twohig, a North Shore comedy veteran and Tony Capobianco, a regular in the comedy club scene.

Tickets are available for $25, tables of 10 for $225. They can be purchased at the door if the show does not sell out. To reserve a seat or a table call 781-953-0457 or 781-293-6900 or email boyle6900@aol.com. There will be pizza and appetizers available.

Canadiens sweep Maple Leafs

South Coastal
Hockey League
rundup

By Mark Ducharme
Correspondent

The Canadiens at one time could not find a way to defeat the Maple Leafs in the South Coastal Hockey League.

They had a stretch of where they were winless in 33 games against the Leafs, but the Canadiens have had success against them lately. They swept their three game Winter Season series with the Leafs as they pulled out a 4-3 shootout win.

Glen Harnisch of Marshfield who set up two goals in regulation scored the only goal of the shootout to give the Canadiens the win. Cohasset's Tim Curran, Sean Keegan of Pembroke and Kirk Souza scored the Canadiens goals in regulation.

Jeff Gauthier tied the game for the Leafs with 20 seconds left in regulation, but they were not able to score in the shootout.

Joe Greene and Jim Bristol also scored goals for the Leafs in the game.

Steve DiMaio scored two goals and Chad Sullivan added another as the Rangers held on for a 3-2 Classics Div. win over the Red Wings.

Scott Mondeau and Tom Pipenbrink both scored a goal and Brian Hurcombe of Pembroke had two assists for the Wings.

Kevin Ryan scored three goals and Drew Fitzgerald had one goal and Pembroke's Paul Lyons had three assists in the Black Hawks 4-1 Classics Div. win over the Bruins. Pembroke's Mike Martin scored in the third period for the Bruins.

Pembroke's Bill Sawtelle

scored the deciding goal in the last round of the shoot out as the Sharks grabbed a 2-1 Legends Div. win over the Crusaders. Mike Simon scored for the Crusaders and Dana Dolabany of Norwell scored for the Sharks, who won the shootout 2-1.

Pembroke's Ken Wingate broke a 1-1 tie in the second period as the Stingers held on for a 2-1 win over the Saints.

Paul Smyth scored 20 seconds into the game for the Saints and Mike Ryan tied the game for the Saints in the first period.

Paul Brinkman scored a goal and assisted on another and Ken Menkello registered his second shut out of the season in the Toros 4-0 win over the Whalers in a Legends Div. matchup.

Hanover's Scott Morgan, Joe Spagenberger of Scituate and Jim Holmes added a goal each for the Toros.

challenged by a newcomer, sophomore Shea Kearney (who was outstanding in net for the Cohasset/Hanover girls ice hockey team during the winter) who has looked good in the early going with her athleticism.

Junior transfer Caroline Prescott, junior Caty Gilman and freshman Megan McElgunn will all compete for playing time on defense and add depth to a very strong unit.

The offense will be led by midfielders Dunn, Axelson and senior, Maddie Curley. Dunn led the team in assists last year and is a dual threat both scoring and passing. Axelson and Curley are defensive specialists but can also fill up the cage when needed.

Sophomore Callie O'Neill, sophomore Caelin McDonald and freshman Marina Longo round out the midfield and add speed to an excellent group.

The attack is led by sophomores Ally Leahy, Corey Golden and Madigan O'Neill who all started as freshmen and are expected to put up a lot of points this season. Sophomore Bennett Tierney will challenge for a starting position and several other players are competing for playing time at attack.

The Skippers scrimmaged Lincoln Sudbury on Thursday and play multiple teams in a round robin format at perennial power Westwood on Saturday. They kick off a challenging regular season on Friday March 28 at home against Barnstable at 4pm.

Come out to Alumni field and support the team!

YOUTH BASKETBALL

March Madness comes to Cohasset

Rec Basketball hosts playoff tournament

The Cohasset Mariner

Cohasset Rec. Basketball celebrated March Madness and the culmination of the recreation basketball season by hosting a series of playoff tournaments for boys in grades 4-8.

In Grade 4 action, UMass defeated Boston University 22-10 for the championship, and Northeastern won the "best of the rest" bracket. The Minutemen of UMass fought off a tough BC team in the second round of the playoffs to advance vs. BU in the finals.

UMass played great team defense all season and it showed in the finals led by Jackson Soderberg and Gavin Carter. The big men were relentless on the offensive boards lead by Austin Ronan and Henry Griffin. Strong guard play and sharing the basketball helped the attack, which was led by Jackie Lyons, Carter Boyle, Dylan Fitzpatrick and Gregor Guempel.

In Grades 5/6, Duke outplayed Michigan with a 6-0 run to start the second half and never relinquished the lead. The "best of the rest" bracket saw the best basketball of the season, with the Oxford Tarheels edging Louisville by only a point.

In Grade 7/8, the Thunder got a chance for redemption, as the Lakers had beat the Thunder in first round action and handed them their only loss of the season last week. For the final, the Thunder defeated the Lakers by ten.

The Thunder v. Lakers game was a fun game to watch and was played well by all. The Lakers got help from their usual suspects - Devin Varney played tough defense and hit some open shots. Thatcher Stone played only one half, but still contributed with solid inside play. His leaving at halftime hurt the Lakers as it depleted some much needed size.

Jack Mahoney (8th grade) continued to do all the little things to contribute, score, play defense, and grab rebounds. Victor Najjar played great for the Lakers - scoring with some great moves and playing tough defense. Thomas Marsden showed he can contribute too - taking the open shots, making the extra pass, and rebounding for his team. Kyle McFetridge, made several drives to the hoop and showed his range in knocking down 3-pointers.

Tommy Carrabes was blocking any shot within arm's reach. Tommy also slashed to the hoop scoring easy buckets for the Lakers and pulled up for some open 3's.

Celtics (Grades 7/8) Chris Longo, Jack Fechter, Will Greer, Jackson Fitzgerald, Aidan Kearns, and David Burke

The Thunder got a chance for redemption, as the Lakers beat the Thunder in the first round action and handed them their only loss.

The Thunder wanted to show they were the best. They got contributions from everyone that led to the victory for the Thunder.

Point Guard Aiden Gildea just won't be outworked by anyone. He runs up and down the floor with each possession, finds himself in the right place at the right time, and grabs key rebounds and scores some nice put backs.

Bradley Albanese again quietly went about his business, moving well without the ball and being rewarded with some great team passing finding Bradley open for some easy shots that he converted. Scott Whelan can hit an outside shot, take the ball to the hoop, and rebound. Scott did it all yesterday. Thunder's other point guard, Sam Lelio, continues to lobby for the league to allow 4-pt shots (not happening) as he continues to take deep 3 pointers. He shot well outside the 3-point line consistently making more than he missed.

Matt Donohue had an equally great game, scoring many easy put backs and buckets, even hitting a deep 3 pointer.

Will Thomas showed no one can cover him consistently. He drove to the hoop, took and hit outside shots, and cleaned up the boards. Again, a great game, with the Thunder taking victory as 2014 Rec League Champs.

In other league action - the CBA committee divided the two teams up as evenly as possible. The Coho White team consisted of Charlie Pyne, Mark Mahoney, Noah Froio, Charlie Devin, Jimmy Norton, and Ben Grimes. Charlie Pyne was dominate inside on both the offensive and defensive ends of the floor - he had a nice alley-oop from Noah Froio, which will make the top 10 plays of the day. Noah played well for his team, doing a little bit of everything.

Noah set a record yesterday.

He took the first offensive charge every called in Rec League History.

Mark Mahoney was strong inside, scoring some easy buckets and playing strong defense and grabbing rebounds. Jimmy Norton played the guard position well - he distributed the ball to open teammates, took the open shot, and played hard on the defensive end. Charlie Devin showcased his offensive ability by showing he can score as well as anyone! Ben Grimes also helped Team White stay close - he found open areas on the court and took the open shot. He also helped out on the defensive end, getting in passing lanes, and making it harder on the other team to score. Great effort by Team White - unfortunately, they lost, but took home the "Best of the Rest" T-shirts.

The Coho Blue team consisted of Will Greer, Jackson Fitzgerald, Chris Longo, Jack Fechter, Aidan Kearns, and David Burke. Jack Fechter played a solid game - showed he has a nice scoring touch by taking the ball to the hoop and scoring on outside shots. Jackson Fitzgerald also assisted his team with some great passing and hitting the open shots.

Chris Longo got some nice passes from his teammates and converted some easy shots.

Aidan Kearns distributed the ball well and took the open shot. Jackson Fitzgerald demonstrated he can score with some nice shots throughout the game.

David Burke played well on both sides of the ball, getting steals that lead to some easy points for his team. Will Greer had several highlight reel moves as did all he could to help lead his team to victory. Will scored from the inside and from the outside, displaying an all-around game.

Soccer goalkeeper training school offered

Soccer Etc., 285 Circuit St., Hanover, will hold an eight-week goalkeeper training school for boys and girls age 11 to 18.

Training sessions will strive to maintain a high-intensity training atmosphere that pushes participants to their next level. Students will be exposed to the psychology, physical conditioning, leadership techniques and tactical training needed to succeed. Training sessions will test the student's abilities while guiding them through the essential techniques required to being a successful goalkeeper and will challenge every student physically while instilling a more sophisticated understanding of the position. This includes emphasizing the fundamentals of the goalkeeper position, being able to read the attack, sort out the options and anticipate the opponent's next move. Specific tactical training will include catching, diving, crosses, angle play, distribution, communication, game situations, and physical fitness. All sessions include education, demonstration and application of the content.

Eight sessions are held on Thursdays from April 17 to June 5.

Boys and girls ages 11 to 14 from 6 to 7 p.m.

Boys and girls ages 15 to 18 from 7 to 8 p.m.

The cost is $250. Each age group is limited to eight students on a first come, first served basis.

For information or to register your child, email Erik Eisenhut at erik_eisenhut@yahoo.com or call 781.424.3028.

BUSINESS NOTE

Pease named managing director

New Directions Inc. in Boston announced the appointment of Cohasset resident Samuel C. Pease to the position of managing director.

"Sam is an astute, compassionate, and skilled senior career consultant," said New Directions president Michael W. Jalbert. "He has helped numerous of our clients navigate their unique career crossroads. We gladly recognize Sam's contributions to their success and, in turn, to their sponsoring companies, for coaching these gifted men and women through every variety of professional transition toward impressive outcomes. By his first class example, Sam has supported and inspired his fellow career experts here at New Directions."

Prior to joining New Directions, Pease spent 16 years in executive search, most recently as a partner at Heidrick & Struggles, where he helped find man-

DAR

Good Citizen Awards presented

The Col. Thomas Lothrop/Old Colony Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met on March 16 at the Lightkeeper's Residence to honor local recipients of the DAR Good Citizens Award. Sponsored through the local chapter, the winners recognized were Matthew MacCormack of Cohasset High School, Stella Willis of Hull High School, Erin Slayton of Whitman-Hanson Regional High School, and Hannah Murphy of Weymouth High School.

The DAR Good Citizen Award is given annually to members of the senior class of accredited high schools. Three students are selected by the faculty, based on the qualities of Dependability, Service, Leadership and Patriotism. Members of the senior class then vote for the recipient of the award. This program is also recognized by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Matt MacCormack of Cohasset High School is the son of Stephen and Karen MacCormack. Matt is Vice-President of his class and secretary of the National Honor Society. He is the Editor-in-chief of the school newspaper. He is active at St. Anthony's and has participated in youth trips to help people in need in Kentucky and Staten Island after Hurricane Sandy. He had helped organize a school drive for the Cohasset Food Pantry and made a video for a campaign to raise money after the Philippines typhoon. He is a member of the Peer Leaders, a program that works with the Middle School students. He writes a weekly column for the Cohasset Mariner on what is happening at the school. Matt is the section leader of the percussion section of the CHS Concert Band. He is a dog walker at the Cohasset Kennel. He helped found the Cohasset Sports Programming Network that focuses on all aspects of Cohasset sports through the local community TV Channel, 143TV. He hopes to pursue Broadcast Journalism at a university next year.

Each student was presented with a certificate and wallet card stating they are local Good Citizen recipients. Their families came forward to help pin on the Good Citizen pins and were congratulated for their outstanding young adults. A small gift and a flag were also given to each Good Citizen. The Offices of state Sen. Robert Hedlund and state Rep. Garrett Bradley presented Citations from the State House congratulating each of the students for their achievements.

Donkey (Brendan Smith) is a bit intimidated by Dragon (Bonnie Gardner).

Ann McCoy as "Fiona" practices her song off stage.

Shrek the Musical

The Cohasset Dramatic Club presents the South Shore premiere of the Broadway show "Shrek the Musical," a stage adaptation of the DreamWorks animated film.

The story of "Shrek" follows an unlikely hero, a big, oafish ogre who is green on the outside, but has a heart of gold. Shrek just wants to save his swamp, but ends up embarking on a quest to rescue the beautiful, fiery Princess Fiona from a lovesick dragon.

With multi-layered sets and colorful costumes, the show features CDC veterans and newcomers from all over the Boston area, all of whom were drawn to being part of a show that's never been produced at a South Shore community theater before.

Performances are Fridays and Saturdays, 7:30 p.m. and Sundays, 2 p.m. March 14 - 30 at the Cohasset Town Hall Theatre, 41 Highland Ave.

Tickets cost $20 (general admission) and can be purchased online at: brownpapertickets.com/event/544892 at Paperscapes, Cohasset Village, Buttonwood Books, CJC Highway, Cohasset, or via reservation at 617-922-0280, also the number for group sales. Tickets may also be purchased the day of the show, one-hour prior at the box office. For more information, go to: cohassetdramaticclub.org.

Fiona (Ann McCoy) is far less excited than Lord Farquaad (Bill Stiles) about going horse back riding.

Donkey (Brendan Smith) loves Shrek (Glenn Kane), but Shrek is not sure how he feels about Donkey.

Captain of the Guard (Max Nakashima) banishes the Three Bears (Mark Alves, Nathan Arnold, and Nicole DiRuzza) from the Kingdom of Duloc.

Young Shrek (Nathan Arnold) wonders what his future holds.

Young Fiona (Olivia Hansen), grown-up Fiona (Ann McCoy) and teen Fiona (Madison Pratt) sing about their life as a princess.

Pinocchio (Mike Nakashima) and other fairy tale characters are exiled from the Kingdom of Duloc.

Fairy Tale creatures break out in song.

Obituaries appearing in this section are paid for and written by families, often through the services of a funeral director.

Ronald M. Campbell

COHASSET - Ronald Murray Campbell, passed away March 10, 2014, at age 92.
 He was a beloved husband, father, and grandfather.
 Born Dec. 30, 1921, in Goderich, Ontario, Canada, to the late Lillian Elizabeth Campbell and Gordon Campbell, he spent his teen years in Ottawa, Canada, and graduated from Glebe Collegiate High School.
 Mr. Campbell served in the Canadian Armoured Corps from 1940 to 1945. Commissioned as lieutenant in 1944, he served in the European Campaign from 1944-1945.
 Ronald graduated post war from Queens University, Kingston, Ontario, Canada, as a mechanical engineer.
 He was employed on design and project management of nuclear power plants, mostly with Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation of Boston and prior to 1955 with Canadian companies.
 Mr. Campbell was president of the Lightkeepers' Corporation for twelve years and past president of the Cohasset Dramatic Club.
 He was co-founder and past president of Massachusetts Voice of Energy.

 Former deacon of the Second Congregational Church of Cohasset, he volunteered for Friends in Service to Humanity (fish) and Meals on Wheels for the Social Service League.
 He was an avid reader and prolific writer.
 Predeceased by wife of sixty years, Mary Aileen McIntosh, and brothers, Keith and Bill Campbell of Ottawa, Canada, he is survived by daughters, Linda Jane Campbell of Cromwell, Conn., Janet Susan Campbell; and grandson, John Douglas Campbell of Kingston.
 A memorial service will be held at the Second Congregational Church in Cohasset, Saturday, April 5, at 11 a.m.
 Contributions may be made to the Second Congregational Church, 43 Highland Avenue, Cohasset, MA 02025, in memory of Ronald.

Horoscope

SALOME'S STARS FOR RELEASE WEEK OF MARCH 31, 2014

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Putting yourself in someone else's shoes isn't easy for you. But if you do it, you'll gain a better perspective of what you need to do to achieve your goals. Be open to new ideas.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) There are still some problems you might have to deal with before moving on to your next project. It's a good idea to accept help from those who share your objectives.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's time to recognize the difference between those who are truly concerned for you and those who simply plan to use your good nature to their advantage. New ideas become increasingly attractive.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Depending on a promise made becoming a promise kept could be more than a mite unwise at this time. It's best to proceed on your own rather than wait for aid that might never arrive.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A recently revitalized relationship might not be quite what the Big Cat expected. But give yourself more time to deal with the changes. A little flexibility can go a long way. Good luck.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A major change could prompt more adjustments. Some of them might be difficult to deal with at first. But hang in there, and before you know it, you'll be coasting to your next goal.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your sense of justice prompts you to speak out against an unfair situation, even if you seem to be the only one who feels that way. But you soon learn that many others agree with you.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Creating a fuss is not usually your style. But that doesn't mean you should tolerate an ill-mannered attitude. Speak up for yourself, and you'll earn the respect of others.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might have a few loose ends to tie up before you can stamp your project as complete. But once that's done, you might want to celebrate with someone special in your life.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Disappointment darkens the Goat's mood. But close friends rally to pull you through with words of encouragement. Use their confidence in you to rebuild your own self-esteem.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) An upcoming decision might be more difficult with inaccurate information. Best to recheck the data you have at hand right now to be sure it won't mislead you later.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An offer you previously turned down might no longer be available. But if you do some checking around, you could find something else that would suit you just fine.

(c) 2014 King Features Synd., Inc.

BORN THIS WEEK: You believe in helping those who cannot help themselves. Although it embarrasses you, the fact is, people like you and tell you so.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles?

Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Challenging

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
